To whom it may concern,

I am Valeria Naldi, R&D Director at Solair, hereby I declare that Sara Michelazzo was employed by Solair as Creative Graphic Designer from July 2012 to December 2013. Over this period she worked closely with the development team I coordinated.

Sara was responsible for designing our new web application UI, regarding which we had ambitious usability goals: we wanted to deliver a great user experience and a friendly visual design.

Sara defined the visual design of the application, providing style guidelines to the developers and input to improve the interaction design. She never stopped at the first idea, she tried to rework ideas and concepts in order to provide multiple options and achieve the best solution possible.

Despite her young age Sara has demonstrated outstanding skills, professionalism and great energy. She has shown attention to detail and commitment to produce high-quality work even under tight deadlines. She was always open to dialogue and to the exchange of ideas, ready to read up and willing to understand the issues her design should be applied on.

Sara is a good team worker, she was able to collaborate with the R&D and the Marketing team as well, with an easy going and cheerful attitude.

We are very sorry she decided to leave the company to increase her expertise abroad, by the way we wish her good luck and I am happy to provide additional reference for her under request.
